Mr Arthur Garande
Papaya Delight

Mr Garande with paw paw plants in Shamva.

Stop coming up with excuses!

You have no capital,
You have no land,
You have no knowledge,
You don't have the time,

Mr Arthur Garande is our shining example of just pushing ahead starting with nothing.

He didn't have a farm—but used his rural land in Shamva to start a thriving papaya farming project.

Naysayers laughed at him—anodyara ma paw paw anotengwa naani?

And it was worse when he had to walk in the Harare CBD picking up empty plastics to help in setting up his nursery.

He was very lucky as H-Metro didn't pick him.

For it could have been a headline—Harare Top Private School Senior Teacher found emptying bins lol

Starting from the bottom
Overcome your fears

Its now all water under the bridge as Garande has done extremely well and has become Zimbabwe's Papaya Farming Lead.

His name comes first when it comes to Papaya and the good news is that he has inspired thousands of other farmers on the forum and beyond.

And Yes he started right on ZBIN.

Zbinites in East Asia
Let’s Look East for Opportunities

So we have Subscribed Members currently on tour in East Asia and we wish them all the best.

Luwy has been posting about her experiences touring China and we hope to bring her to The Premium Chat. A lot of new experiences and we encourage you to follow her on Facebook.

We also have Tatenda Mawoneke who is a member of Airose who is back in East Asia for the second time. This time around visiting Thailand and Indonesia. Well done ladies!
